Summary

No race is more famous than the Indianapolis 500, and no brand of racing is more exciting than Indy Racing League.

And when you combine former Indy 500 winner Dan Wheldon with the Guard racing team, it means IRL action at its best.

Wheldon is one of the top three winningest drivers in IndyCar Series history. Climbing from 2003 Rookie of the Year to IRL champion, he roared to the top of racing's heights with his victory at the 89th Indianapolis 500 in 2005. Again this year, Wheldon and his Panther Racing IndyCar will be flying the Guard colors at tracks and street races all over North America.

Be sure to follow the National Guard IndyCar team and blazing IRL competition as the green flag drops at races across the country.
